

CREATURE'S 2nd SMALL CHANGE RALLY

Last year, Creature – the larger than life gentleman behind the Small Change Rally – had said “Never again!” He’d organised it as a one-off event, not only to raise money for the NABD, but as a public mark of his support for Rick Hulse and the organisation. But running a rally almost entirely single-handedly took its toll on his health and energy, and his refusal to countenance a second Small Change Rally was quite understandable.

SO, how did several hundred of us come to be standing in a field this May at, yes, the 2nd Small Change Rally? In short, because it was such a good bash that it just HAD to be repeated. That, and the fact that, for months, everyone nagged Creature so much that he eventually threw up his hands and said, “Okay!” This year’s event was held at a new site, the Plough in Farcet Fen, south-east of Peterborough, and an inspired choice it was, too. The pub sits on a lonely stretch of road in the middle of the Fens with enough space behind the
